ABOUT US

TWENTY ONE PILOTS

Twenty One Pilots is an American musical duo from Columbus, Ohio, formed in 2009 by Tyler Joseph along with former members Nick Thomas and Chris Salih. After releasing their self-titled debut album that same year, the group began building a small but loyal following in their hometown. Their second self-released record, Regional at Best (2011), revealed the band's developing style, a distinctive mix of alternative rock, pop, hip-hop, and electronic elements combined with deeply personal lyrics. Shortly after that release, Thomas and Salih left the band, and Joseph continued the project with drummer Josh Dun, forming the lineup that would soon bring the duo international attention.

2012

In 2012, their energetic live performances and unique sound attracted the interest of Fueled by Ramen, a subsidiary of Atlantic Records, leading to their first major label deal. The following year they released Vessel, which included songs like "Holding on to You," "Car Radio," and "House of Gold" The album explored anxiety, faith, and self-doubt through an energetic and experimental sound that resonated with a growing audience.

2017

The duo has received multiple Grammy nominations and won the Grammy Award for Best Pop Duo/Group Performance in 2017 for "Stressed Out" Their loyal fan base, known as the Skeleton Clique, has made them one of the most dedicated communities in modern music.

2018

In 2018, they released Trench, a concept album that expanded their storytelling universe. It was praised for its deep lyrics, cohesive narrative, and songs like "Jumpsuit," "My Blood," and "Nico and the Niners."

2021

In 2024, they released Clancy, which concluded the narrative arc that began with Blurryface and Trench, offering closure to the symbolic world they had built over nearly a decade.
